“\[The BI&A LDP provides me with the opportunity to reach new heights and achieve set goals. It taught me how to respond to different challenges with intelligence, strategy and expertise. One of the many things I like about being part of this program is the strong support system that I got to build over the past three years. Through networking with different professionals from executive sponsors, program managers, program alumni to my own peers, I was able to create a social network that allowed me to share thoughts, experiences and achieve personal and professional goals!\]” – Hakema, BI&A LDP Participant
